Nearly two years ago a number of our citizens, aided by a distinguished gentleman from the east, organized "The Rocky Mountain Club," with its headquarters in this place, which was intended to do for this country what the Alpine clubs do for Europe, to collect a library of books, maps, &c., relating to the Rocky Mountains to organize parties to explore them, and in short to encourage in every possible way the laudable desire of thousands of travelers, tourists, scientists and others to learn more of the hidden mysteries of the great region lying west of us, as yet comparatively unknown to the world The club elected its officers, adopted by-laws, and in a short time had collected the nucleus of a library in its snug little room over the First National bank

For some reason or other we believe owing to the difficulty of getting some one to give the time required to conduct the correspondence and general details of the work to be done the club was allowed to die, or at least settle into a comatose condition but little removed from death. During its brief existence its officers had evidence of the great interest felt in the work it proposed to perform, by the applications for membership which they received from many of the most distinguished travelers and scientific men of this country and Europe, and by the alacrity with which contributions of valuable works were made to the library of the club We sincerely hope that this organization will be resuscitated and that it will resume the important work it had in view We live on the edge of a region four thousand miles long by a thousand miles wide Small areas of this immense scope of country have been tramped over, it is true, by adventurous miners, but even they have only scratched its surface in few places and it remains in the fullest sense of the word a terra incognita to the world This would not long be the case if an active organization like the Alpine clubs in Europe were formed here Under its auspices the geography, geology zoology and botany of this interesting region would soon be better known, and its rapid settlement be greatly promoted Colorado Springs could be benefited by having the headquarters of such a club here Hundreds of tourists and explorers would come [illegible] and make this their starting point for the mountains, and our beautiful town would be spoken of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] county immediately [illegible] could soon be opened up to those who come hither for a few days or weeks and have no time to penetrate to more remote parts We have it is true magnificent bits of scenery close at hand Monument Park, Glen Eyrie, Manitou [illegible] the Garden of the Gods and Cheyenne Canon with which to delight our visitor but only a few miles further in the mountains are dense forests in which game, large and small, can be found valleys with crystal streams filled with trout parks carpeted with grass and fringed with evergreens, all of which should be visited by those who come here to escape for awhile the cares and labors to which they must devote themselves at home The opening up of these interesting and delightful places would be a portion of the work of a Rocky Mountain Club, and our readers can readily see how our town would be benefited thereby. We hope therefore that the public spirited gentlemen who constituted the organization indicated, will make an earnest effort to start it with renewed life and activity

Dan Voorhees as a Praying Young Methodist

I am told that this canvass is to be made for the personal benefit of Mr Voorhees If so then he ought not to be a false teacher Of the man personally I shall say nothing to disturb the kind relations which have ever existed between us I think I know Daniel both inside and out We were schoolboys together at Asbury members of the same secret and literary societies in college both earnest Freesoil Whigs Daniel had the advantage of me in this A more devout, enthusiastic praying young Methodist never adorned the walks of college life How oft, when on bended knees around our literary altar for the purpose of opening the exercises with prayer as the eloquent tongue of young Voorhees sent up our supplications to a throne of grace did my heart throb and leap upward the tear steal down my cheek while my youthful mind had visions of a future bishop, and glory—and then! Next I saw him in the law office of the old man eloquent, the gifted and the noble Henry S Lane I follow him to Covington and see him vote for Brier, the Freesoil Whig, candidate for Congress Next I see a two-inch card giving expression to his views on the tariff as a pretext for turning Democrat He falls into the arms of Hannegan, and I very much fear fell from grace also From that day to this time and again I have been moved to exclaim, How oft would I have gathered you under my wings as a hen doth her brood, but ye would not.—Speech of John Hanna which was given to it by the English. He said that the English sent out either incompetent or dishonest managers and hence the disgrace into which the property fell. For this failure they blamed General Schenck and the Americans allowed this puppet head man … distinguished statesman … gallant soldier to be condemned without reflection without investigation. When the English began to lose money through the want of experienced laborers then they began to whine and call for vengeance upon the gentleman who with them had risked in the enterprise his own money. In all my experience there has scarcely been an instance like this where a valued citizen has been slandered so unjustly and so cruelly wronged. The first ten tons of ore taken out of the Emma mine yielded $10,000 … to the ton. A little pluck, firmness and enterprise … would have given this to the English company. The silver is found in great chambers not in fissures … it exists here in Colorado. It is carbonate of silver.

The English also claimed … that the Yankees had swindled them in the Eberhart mine but they have already taken out the $5,000,000 paid for the property and large sums have also been distributed. The Caribou located on Caribou Hill was sold to a Holland company by one of our citizens for $3,000,000 but it was wrecked through the same agencies which reduced the Emma mine and was sold finally at sheriff's sale for $50,000. To its present owners under the management of Mr. J. B. Smith it is yielding vast sums. Like the Emma the value of the Caribou can scarcely be estimated. The more it is worked the richer it grows and this is true of most of the mines in Colorado that have been developed.

The Aldine Press

Of all the … who were once … [illegible] … excellent … H… original … Manutius and … born … about 1450. His early … he was … and … retirement … unlike the restless … he was afterward … The test and friend of the noble … della Mirandola … studied Greek with him in his palace under a Cretan professor Emmanuel Adramyttenos. Eventually he became the tutor of Pico's nephews and one of these Alberto Pio to whom the great publisher afterward dedicated his magnificent edition of Aristotle supplied him with funds to set up a printing press. In 1476 the first Greek book had been issued from a press at Milan and in 1480 every uncritical Theocritus made its appearance. The first really excellent book published in Italy was Lorenzo Alopa's Florentine Homer in 1488. This was really all of any value that had been done to perpetuate Greek literature when Aldus in 1490 settled in Venice, and collected scholars and compositors around him. His house became a nucleus of Greek learning and indeed it would seem that the whole … carried on in the Greek language and by exiles from the ruins of the Eastern Empire. The directions to printers and binders are entirely in that language and accordingly it is judged that Aldus in order to succeed thoroughly in his great enterprise steeped himself entirely in the language that he loved. His … prefaces were in Greek. The work begun about 1493 went on almost without a pause for more than twenty years during that time there were issued from the Aldine press no less than thirty three first editions of all the greatest and most voluminous Greek authors. Of these a few may be recorded here. The list begins with Musaeus in 1493 and Theocritus in 1495. Aristotle followed a splendid edition in four volumes which occupied the years 1495 to 1498. In the last mentioned year Aldus was assisted by Musurus in bringing out all that was then known of Aristophanes the Lysistrata and the Thesmophoriazusae being not yet discovered. Thucydides Sophocles and Herodotus followed in 1502 Xenophon and Euripides in 1503 and Demosthenes in 1504. The Greek orators occupied 1508 and Plutarch 1509. Plato appeared in 1513 and Pindar in 1514. Thus just 100 years after the first professor of Greek arrived in Florence bearing the precious secrets of literature with him, the greater part of antique letters was at the service of the humblest of Italian scholars. For nothing is more remarkable than the public spirit and munificence of the first and greatest of publishers. In spite of the exquisite art of Aldus in spite of his manifold—expenses, risks and difficulties he contrived to circulate his really luxurious editions at a price that seems nominal. The Musaeus cost less than a shilling of our money, and the Theocritus less than 2 … all five volumes of the vast edition of Aristotle could be purchased for about £8. When we realize that everything had to be invented and that Aldus inherited no experience from past workmen that the very type had to be cut from handwriting, the … the type from that of Petrarch, the Greek from that of Musurus, that the publishing house had to become a sort of college of scholars all dependent on the unwearied head, our wonder is excited at the greatness of this unique man whose energies were constantly thwarted and his designs paralyzed by the waves of war that deluged Italy again and again. He persevered and his disciples continued his labors the monuments of ancient prose and verse were placed beyond the fear of destruction or loss. In 1515 Aldus Manutius died. The Westminster Review

Eight car-loads of water pipe arrived yesterday.

We understand that Capt. Huddleston will commence to-day the delivery of the water pipe.

The members of the A. M. E. church will give a concert and social in their church on Wednesday evening. Everybody is cordially invited.

The amount collected at Grace Episcopal Church on Sunday morning for the yellow fever sufferers was $307, a very good showing for a single collection.

J. Bayne, the expressman, found yesterday, near Templeton's Gap, a piece of stone formation nearly the shape of an Indian moccasin. He also found near by a hollow stone of the shape of a carrot.

J. H. Woodgate reports business still on the increase. Last Saturday's sales were in excess of any day since he began business. Yesterday he received 4,000 pounds of goods.

From Mr. L. B. Hammond we learn of a shooting affray that occurred near Granite, last Wednesday. Old man Turkey shot and instantly killed one man and seriously wounded another. The latter, however, is likely to get well. The trouble grew out of some placer claims on the Arkansas river. Mr. Hammond could not remember the men's names.

The band boys wish us to request all those desiring their services to give them at least a few moments notice before the time those services are actually required. Come to think of it, it was hours instead of minutes. But the point is this: the boys are not all gentlemen of leisure who can go on short notice they must have a little time for preliminaries.

We understand that a number of energetic young men propose to meet on Monday evening to form a General Nathan Harris club. These young men are dissatisfied with all of the present party organizations and think they see in General Harris a man who will best represent their sentiments. It is their intention to back him for a still higher office in the future. A General Nathan Harris ratification meeting will soon be held. It will be addressed by prominent citizens of Colorado Springs and it is hoped that the General himself will be present and make a few stirring remarks. The club also intend to thoroughly canvass the county for their candidate and will furnish good speakers for populous centres.

The Friday Night Entertainment.

The attention of GAZETTE readers is again called to the entertainment to be given at military hall on next Friday evening, by the ladies and Sabbath school of the Presbyterian church. It promises to be, in every respect, a very pleasant affair. At 6 o'clock a supper will be served, and during the evening oysters and ice cream. Madame Rita, whose singing has charmed our citizens and increased with each succeeding time of her appearance a desire to hear her, will be present, and sing. The Italian players, whos reputation as excellent musicians is so good, will accompany her, and give some pieces of their own. Admission free.

The City Legislature.

A called meeting of the city council was held last evening. Present a full board. Among the first business that came up was in reference to the mule, the history of which in brief is this: S. P. Gutshall's mule got into the city pound; and after due notice in the GAZETTE was sold, A. L. Lawton being the purchaser. The ordinance touching transactions of this character provides that the balance of the purchase money over and above all costs shall be paid to the person owning the animal at the time of impounding the same. Mr. Gutshall, thinking the mule to be of more value than the dollars and cents which stand to his credit in the city's treasury, wants the aforesaid animal. After discussing the matter the council passed on to other business. It was decided to close the contract with Mr. Huddleston for distributing the water pipes along the surveyed line.

The bill of Dr. Edwards for attendance upon city cases was passed. So also was the bill of the D. & R. G. railway for freight on water pipes.

THE RACES.

The Pacing Race Nip and Tuck.

"Sleepy Tom" Wakens Up and is the Winner.

A Quiet Meeting, But Much Enthusiasm

At an early hour yesterday afternoon, the streets and thoroughfares of our city were thronged with vehicles of every description, well laden, and with the race track as their objective point. The announcement of the Colorado Springs trotting meeting had created much interest, especially in sporting circles, which was greatly increased upon the entries being made known. The weather was unusually pleasant, a brisk breeze serving as an offset to the heat diffused by an unobscured sun. The attendance was not so large as we had been led to expect, but we believe but few if any of those present expressed dissatisfaction as to the manner in which the meeting was conducted. The occasion was greatly enlivened by the cornet band, which was present in full force and furnished most excellent music. A glance at the judge's stand was sufficient assurance that fair work was to be the order of the day. Dr. C. J. Reynolds was the starter, S. J. Wright and E. A. Lowe, associates; Messrs. M. C. Wilbur and W. F. Studebaker, time-keepers. Owing to an unavoidable delay it was 3 o'clock before the races were called.

The first event of the programme was the pacing race for a purse of $30. There were but two entries in the race: Sleepy Tom, entered by Geo. Wolff, and Belle of Colorado, entered by B. C. Holly. In drawing positions Sleepy Tom won the pole.

First Heat. On the second score they got the word, Sleepy Tom having the lead, but the Belle lapping him well. Tom was first to the quarter pole in forty seconds at this time leading the mare by a couple of lengths and passing the half mile pole without any apparent change in position. The half mile pole was passed in 1:22¼, after which the mare settled down to her work overhauling the horse passing under the wire only a length behind. Time, 2:45.

Second Heat. Some difficulty was experienced in scoring. Finally they got the word on the fourth score, Tom again having the lead. Their position, at the quarter pole, which was passed in 38½s, was about the same as in the first heat, the mare holding her own but failing to overhaul the horse as before, and the heat was won by Tom in 2.40.

Third Heat. They got the word on the third scoring, Tom leading but a trifle. Soon after getting the word Tom indulged in a break, which gave the mare the advantage, she pulling ahead and passing the quarter pole in 38s and the half mile in 1.16. Tom got down to his work again, crawled up to within a length, in which position they passed under the wire, the mare winning the heat in 2.36. Previous to the third heat Tom was the favorite in the pools, but after winning this heat, the tide was turned and the mare became the favorite, pools selling with fair demand at 5 to 1.

Fourth Heat. They received the word, with the mare a trifle ahead. Before reaching the quarter pole the horse again made a break, while the mare kept up her pace in a beautiful manner, passing the quarter pole in 39 seconds. The horse, just before reaching the quarter, struck his gait again, keeping it up until nearing the turn, when he made another bad break. He was finally got down to his work again, coming into the home stretch only a length behind, closing up gradually till at the distance pole it was neck and neck. The mare then made a spurt, passing under the wire only a neck ahead. Time, 2:38½. The pools still continued to sell at the same ratio, in a few cases even greater odds being offered.

Fifth Heat. After some trouble they got the word at fourth scoring, the mare leading by half a length. Up to this time she had not made a skip, but shortly after getting the word she made a bad break, and was passed by Tom who made the quarter pole in 40 seconds. Upon getting her gait the mare closed up to within a length, but before reaching the turn made another bad break which left her some lengths behind. After this she settled down gaining to within eight lengths, in which position they passed under the wire, Tom winning the heat in 2.41, and capturing the race.

SUMMARY.

Sleepy Tom,	1	1	2	2	1
Belle Colorado,	2	2	1	1	2

Without doubt this was one of the prettiest races ever paced in Colorado. "Sleepy Tom" is a dun horse, of large frame and a great pounder. He has a record of 2.19¼, made some six years ago in Ohio, but it is plain to see that his best days are over. "Belle Colorado" is a charming little bay mare, level-headed and undoubtedly very fast. She has been less than a week out of pasture, and her training has necessarily been short. Her gait is excellent, very smooth, and without a hitch. She is a grand mare and we look for great things from her.

A race which was not on the programme was a four hundred yards dash, between Clark's "Dolly," and Howell's "Nelly." It was a splendid race. They made the start together, coming down side by side, Nelly passing under the wire less than a quarter length ahead. Time, 22¼. The next race was a running mile dash. Three entries had been made; namely, M. Waldron's s. g. "Ranchman," Mr. Thornhill's g. m. "Maria Grey," and Jas. Carlile's b. m. "Minnie Hunt." The latter horse being drawn the race was between "Ranchman" and "Maria Grey," and was won by the latter in 1:53.

The running race, half mile heats, best two in three, was between Waldron's b. s. "Ramble," J. Carlile's br. s. "Tempest," and W. Carlile's s. f. "Etty C." Owing to the lateness of the hour, but two heats were run, as per

The 2.50 trotting race was postponed until this afternoon at 2 o'clock, sharp.

Taken altogether yesterday's meeting was an entire success, and the managers may well be pleased at the satisfaction which was expressed. We trust that the attendance to-day will be much larger than that of yesterday, and can assure our readers that in staying away they will lose one of the greatest treats of the season. To-day's programme includes the 2.50 trotting race, postponed from yesterday; a "free to all" trotting race; "a free to all" running race, two mile dash, and a foot race of 100 yards. The entries are as follows:

For some time it has been suspected that Mr. J. Thurlow, the well known and popular Manitou artist, was preparing to take unto himself a helpmeet. It has transpired that the supposition was not a mere fancy. The happy event took place at the residence of the bride's parents in this city yesterday morning, September 16th Miss Alice B. Hammond being the bride. Rev. R. T. Cross tied the knot, and the job was well done. Both the bride and groom are to be congratulated upon their choice. Shortly after the ceremony was concluded Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow left for a two weeks' trip to the Seven Lakes region.

The GAZETTE was remembered with a bountiful supply of excellent cake.

Hon. Ivory Phillips and wife arrived on Sunday from Milford, Conn., where they were joined in the bonds of wedlock, as announced recently in the GAZETTE. The happy couple will leave soon for Mr. Phillips' ranch near Bijou Basin. This office acknowledges the receipt of a very generous portion of splendid wedding cake.

Obituary.

Mrs. Isabella (Higgins) Lawson was born on Prince Edward's Island in October, 1812, and died in Colorado Springs Sept. 14, 1878. At the age of twenty-six she was married to John Lawson, who, with their five children, all survive her. It is not often that a family, is unbroken by death for forty years. Four of their children reside in Colorado Springs, and one on Prince Edward's Island. In 1854 Mrs. Lawson came to Massachusetts, joining her husband who had preceded her. They lived eighteen years in the vicinity of Boston, when, in 1872, they came to Colorado. After her marriage Mrs. Lawson joined the Presbyterian church with her husband. In Massachusetts they were members of the Congregational church, of which church in Colorado Springs Mrs. Lawson was a member at the time of her death. She was a woman of ripe Christian character, interested in every good work, and beloved by all who knew her. Her health had been failing for several months. She had no fear of death and fell asleep in Christ as peacefully as a child falls asleep in its mother's arms. A very large number of people attended the funeral on Sunday afternoon at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Gilluly. The exercises were conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. T. Cross, assisted by Rev. H. B. Gage and Rev. J. A. Stayt. An unusually long procession accompanied the remains to their last resting place, all feeling that they were following to the grave the remains of a faithful wife, a loving mother, a good woman and a true Christian.

C.

Mrs. Frank Hemenway died Sunday at 4 p. m., and was buried yesterday from the residence of her father. She was married eleven months ago and leaves a husband and infant daughter. A large circle of friends mourn the loss of a dear one cut down in the early morning of a life full of the promise of happiness.

S.

Personal.

A. J. Downing started to Kansas City yesterday.

Mrs. Mudd and daughter left yesterday for their home in the east.

It is expected that Mr. Alexander, the contractor on the water works, will arrive from Chicago either to-day or tomorrow.

Mr. Holmes, of the firm of Loomis & Holmes, assayers at Leadville, arrived in town on last Saturday, with the expectation of spending the winter here.

William B. Bennett and family having for two or three months enjoyed the beauties and healthfulness of Colorado Springs started yesterday for their home in Dennison, Texas. While here they made many friends.

Ye local having announced the departure of the managing editor, B. W. Steele, Esq., to the mountains, thinks it might allay the anxieties of the ladies for his safety by stating that he arrived home last night, four hours from Seven Lakes. He, as all good editors ought to be, is a good shot; as a result he came in laden with game.

ON THE DIVIDE.

The Lumber Districts—Saw-mills—Agriculture and Stock Raising—Old Settlers—Indian Reminiscences.

It was past 3 o'clock, on Monday afternoon last before we started from Colorado Springs, but striking out as boldly as did Franklin when in search of the North Pole, we took the same direction, but with the Divide as our objective point. The afternoon was decidedly a cold one. One of Colorado's northern zephyrs pierced our very inmost anatomy, causing our teeth to rattle like a castanet and imparting to our nose, ears and hands, a color bordering on sky blue. Of course we had left our gloves at home and were therefore entirely at the mercy of Old Boreas. We pressed on, however, and finally at eight o'clock p. m. reached Husted and Sloan's saw mills, instead of Commissioner Husted's residence, of which we were in search. Upon finding that the aforesaid gentleman lived some two miles from the mill and that the road leading to his house was through the timber we were only too glad to accept the invitation of Mr. Sloan to spend the night at the mill. While our supper was being prepared we "thawed out" over a 12x15 box stove, finishing the process soon after with a cup of coffee.

A good night's rest put us in excellent order, and after breakfast we took a look at the mill and its surroundings. It is situated six miles east of Husted's station, in the midst of the timber. A portable engine and boiler of 20 horse power furnishes the power by which it is run. The machinery now in use consists of a single saw, an edger and a planer. The capacity of the mill is 8,000 feet per day, and the force necessary to run it is ten men about the mill and six loggers. Fifteen yoke of cattle are used in hauling the logs, and four four-horse teams in carrying the lumber to the railroad. The firm are at present at work on contracts for the Denver and Rio Grande Railway. There is a good demand for the lumber at the mill at $14 per 1,000. Mr. Sloan, to whom we are indebted for courteous attentions, superintends in person the workings of the establishment.

Taking a trail through the timber we made our way to the residence of C. R. Husted, Esq., whose reception tended in every way to make us feel at home. After a short rest, in company with Mr. Husted, we took a ride of some ten miles or more and were surprised and pleased at the flourishing appearance the country presented on every side. It seemed almost impossible to credit the statement that within ten years past the ground over which we were riding had been the scene of struggles with the Indians. We were shown the exact spot where ten years ago, the 4th of this month, two men, Jos. Talbot and Ed. Davis, were killed by the redskins. This occurred at the time of the Indian troubles of 68. Many of the old settlers will recall the "powwow" held that year at Fort Russell, between chiefs of the Cheyennes and Arapahoes and the United States Commissioners. The Indians were all furnished with papers, signed by the peace commissioners, stating that they were peaceable, etc., etc. With these passports they were free to go unmolested, anywhere their inclination led them. At the close of the "powwow" they divided into small bands and scattered themselves throughout the country. With their proverbial curiosity they would walk into a man's house, examine his guns, etc., thence into his corral, where they would take an inventory of his live stock, and were he so much as to remonstrate with them, they would flaunt a dirty paper into his face, signed by the so-called peace commissioner, and stating that they were known to be peaceable and law abiding Indians. This continued until the 1st of September, 1868. Then, as if by a preconcerted arrangement, from Cheyenne on the North to the Raton mountains on the South; from the Rocky mountains on the West to Kansas on the East, there was a general uprising of the Indians. They confined themselves principally to "running off" stock, but many a poor settler was shot down by the wretches, while bravely attempting to defend his family and property. And these same Indians are the acknowledged pets of the United States Government, caressed by the "powers that be," and immortalized by poets. But enough on this score.

During our ride we passed the home of Mr. S. C. Stout, Superintendent of the Colorado Pinery Trust Company's lands. He has several hundred acres of fine farm and pasture lands. But owing to his absence from home we were unable to get any particulars regarding his crops, &c. Continuing our ride for about a mile, we came to the ranch owned by Robert Donnelly, a former sheriff of El Paso county. This ranch is situated on the site of the old Bassett mill. Lying, as it does, within a valley, for agricultural purposes it is admirable. He has 320 acres of land—all enclosed. From thirty acres he has cut over forty tons of excellent hay. Five acres are devoted to oats, and over twenty-five to potatoes. Notwithstanding the fact that that the flood last spring inundated the meadows and fields, and leaving thereon great quantities of debris, the grain crop is considered excellent. He also owns eighty head of American cattle, besides fifteen milch cows. He makes on an average seventy-five pounds of butter per month.

Leaving the Donnelly ranch we took a trail, leading through the timber for Mr. Husted's place. On the way we passed the supposed wintering quarters of Lieut. Pike and party used by them at the time of their first expedition to Colorado. Two miles further on we come to the house where dinner awaits us. After dinner we re-saddle our horses and start for the northern side of the divide. Here we come upon G. W. Phillips' ranch—adjoining Mr. Husted's place. He has 160 acres; thirty acres enclosed. He has raised ten acres of potatoes, and fifteen of oats. These last will probably average forty five bushels to the acre. He has been in the ranch business for three years, and is at present engaged in building a new house.

A short distance to the east we come to T. J. Jesse's place. This contains 160 acres thirty-five enclosed. He has raised twenty acres of potatoes and four acres of oats. He owns forty-five head of cattle.

Michael McQuade, a rollicking, good-natured representative of the "Ould Sod," owns a ranch some three-quarters of a mile west of Phillips'. This contains 160 acres 100 enclosed. He has twelve acres devoted to oats and twelve to potatoes. In the line of stock he has 100 head of cattle, four head of American horses and a span of mules.

I. H. Parker is located within a mile of the summit. He has 160 acres all enclosed; will have fifteen acres of oats and twenty-five of potatoes He has seventy-five head of cattle and eight head of horses.

J. W. Crowley has 160 acres—sixty enclosed; will raise this year five acres of oats and twenty of potatoes.

G. W. Copeland adjoins Crowley on the east. He has 160 acres, fifty enclosed. Has seven acres in wheat, oats and rye; fifteen acres of potatoes. Good house and barn.

R. H. Harris has 160 acres, seventy enclosed. He planted twelve acres of oats and rye and twenty of potatoes. His herd consists of fifty head of cattle.

Wm. Mulhern is located two miles north of the divide. He has 160 acres, 100 being enclosed; has ten acres of oats and forty of potatoes and owns a few head of cattle.

M. Griffiths has 160 acres, fifty enclosed, twelve acres of wheat and oats, fifteen acres of potatoes, and some twenty head of cattle.

Finishing our tour among the ranches we "struck across" for Blakeley's Mill. Upon reaching the mill we found it to be in full operation. It is at present under the superintendence of Mr. E. F. Thomas.

We first visited the boiler room which we found to contain two 2-flue boilers, forty-two inches in diameter and eighteen feet long. An engine of sixty-five horse power furnishes the motive power. In the cutting room we found a large circular saw, a Stearns head block and carriage; one of Stearns' improved gang edgers, a lath machine and a shingle machine. The capacity of the mill is 18,000 feet per day. Thirty-five men are employed here, fourteen about the mill. Six teams are used in logging. The lumber is hauled to Greenland station, some thirteen miles. There is a fair demand for it in Denver markets at $20.00 per 1,000 feet.

Leaving the mill we returned to Mr. Husted's residence, which we have not yet described. It is situated on the Denver and Santa Fe stage road, sixteen miles north of Colorado Springs, and includes 700 acres of land, which are enclosed. The house is the finest on the divide and is furnished in a most comfortable manner. Within a few rods of the house are commodious buildings and corrals for the accommodation of live stock. He has 110 head of cattle, including twenty milch cows, and twelve horses. He put up this season tons of hay and will harvest seven of oats. Three and a half acres are voted to the raising of potatoes and vegetables.

Mr. Husted is looked upon as one of the oldest and leading lumber men of the county. In 1866 he bought what was known as the Squirrel creek saw mill, at that time the only mill in the county. The firm name was Arnoud, Husted & Co., and for two years the business was carried on at this point. In 1868 they moved the mill some miles west, and within three miles of the present town of Monument. Since that time the mill has been moved to different points throughout the timber.

In our next we will confine ourselves more particularly to the agricultural and stock interests of the divide.
